Interpretation

» Varna

The boy and the girl both belong to Vaishya varan. This combination indicates a sensitive, psychic and emotional understanding between the natives. The boy would be able to sort out domestic tribulations nicely and the girl will look after the house nicely. Together their energy flows from a positive to a negative terminal, just like a battery, which brings out best results. Both are loyal, sympathetic and attractive towards each other. In their lives, flow of life force is harmonious. Overall, it's a nice merge.

» Vasya

The boy belongs to Manav Vashya while the girl belongs to Chatuspad Vashya. This combination shows a little difficulty in adjustment and understanding between the duos. There is a less compatibility in the compatibility chart for the two. Confusion can arise in the relationship because of the boy's desire to impose himself on her lady, which may lead to drastic situation. The couple may have problems regarding ego, happiness as well as family matters. But if other gunas are matched well and they try to leave their negative traits and can develop mutual understanding the coalition may result into a fruitful decision while the girl belongs to Atimitra tara. As far as tara is so far the best alliance to be taken into consideration. are an excellent temperamental adjustment. Both will also's needs and inter psychic responses at times. In the midst of adversities, collectively they will handle the situation very boldly and with utter confidence. It permits happiness, mutual sharing and harmonious relationships in the home.

» Yoni

The boy belongs to Gow yoni and the girl belongs to Sarp yoni. . This combination has been regarded well by the sages. Neither of them tries to control or change the other and provide enough emotional space to each other. A sense of respect and honor toward each other will become the monument of this relationship. They can sit across the negotiation table and ward off any problem which could hamper the relationship. They don't loose their heart in the midst of adverse situation. Physically, they are very attractive to each other.

» Gana

The boy belongs to Manushya gan and the girl belongs to Dev gan. This is generally a good match. They will understand each other and contribute to each other's success. Girl will be devout, self-sacrificing and very supportive. The boy will be friendly however sometimes he can take angry stance which will be handled well by the girl with her calm and intelligent approach. They will be religious and charitable. The girl will motivate boy to lead more intellectual and religious life and will be his motivator, friend and philosopher. The boy will be very supportive and help the girl to express her knowledge and skills in effective and meaningful ways.

The boy belongs to Aadi and the girl belongs to Madhya nadi. This is considered to be extremely good combination according to nadi compatibility. Both will have excellent level of understanding and will be able to comprehend each other's heart and mind easily. Both of them will give moral strength to the other and help the other to elate even in bad phase of life. Their love for one another will keep growing with the time.

» Rasi Lord

The boy belongs to the rasi lord Mercury and the girl belongs to the Venus lordship. They will complement each other well in all social and family matters. This combination indicates good compatibility and long term relationship. They will be adventurous, outgoing and social. He will support girl by all means and will be loyal to her. She will also give full support to him in form of knowledge, skills, ideas and intelligence. They will have lots of things in common and enjoy the company of each other. They will be supportive, loving, and caring.

» Bhakoot

Zodiac sign for boy is Kanya and the girl belongs to Vrishabha sign. This is not a good combination as far as sign compatibility is concerned. There will be problems related to health and progeny. Chances of premature demise and miscarriage can not be ruled out. There will be petty issues on home and family affairs. He will never be able to understand why she can not be organized, whereas she will never understand why he is so volatile and restless. There will be no sense of security and trust in them. His constant changes in career and family affairs will not go well with her. He will not be eager in understanding and responding to her mood and emotions. She will be sometimes overly emotional and irrational. Overall the relationship will lack the common sense, resourcefulness and practicality which is required for a long term relationship.
